Practice Experience – as an Advocate

David Lehman's litigation experience spans four decades of serious engagement in civil disputes covering a wide array of legal issues. From a substantive point of view he is a generalist who has been engaged in federal and state court matters, as well as significant arbitration practice, covering a broad spectrum of individual and business conflicts. During his litigation career he has appeared in hundreds of civil actions, predominately in Central Pennsylvania, and has a depth of experience in the substance, as well as the art and craft of civil litigation that enables him to give insight and sound guidance to mediating parties.

Practice Experience – as a Mediator

David Lehman was designated as a Certified Mediator by the Federal District Court for the Middle District of Pennsylvania in 2006. That designation reflected his training and extensive experience as a mediator in the District's program beginning in 1995. He was selected by parties to serve as a pro bono mediator in numerous matters and that exposure led in due course to private engagements by litigating parties. He launched Lehman Mediation Service LLC at the end of 2009, concurrently with stepping away from active trial practice. His portfolio of completed mediations numbers more than 250 at the close of 2015. The breadth of civil issues he has encountered in those cases is illustrated in a subject matter listing at www.lehmanmediation.com, along with a detailed resume and related information about his mediation practice. Parties rely on their counsel to select a suitable mediator, and David Lehman enjoys the confidence of Central Pennsylvania litigators, as evidenced by repeat engagements for counsel without regard to which side of the "versus" on which they find themselves.
