Jennifer Lupo is the Managing Member of Lupo Law, Arbitration and Mediation PLLC with offices in Manhattan and Staatsburg, New York.

Ms. Lupo has more than 25 years' experience as a dispute resolution professional. Her unique perspective comes from having sat in every seat at the dispute resolution table (client, advocate and neutral) in both mediations and arbitrations. Jennifer is a member of the national commercial and employment arbitration and mediation panels of the American Arbitration Association, the national commercial and employment arbitration and mediation panels of CPR, the national panel of mediators and arbitrators of Alerity ADR, and a FINRA arbitrator. She is also a member of several court annexed mediation panels including the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit, the United States District Court for the Southern and Eastern Districts of New York, and the Supreme Court of the State of New York, New York County Commercial Division, to name a few. Ms. Lupo is a neutral with a vast array of experience having mediated or arbitrated hundreds of cases in the areas of complex commercial/contracts, construction/architecture, employment, entertainment, financial institutions and investments, insurance, information technology, intellectual property, municipal liability, civil rights, shareholder and member disputes, and telecommunications.

Lupo Law acts as outside general counsel to business organizations. The firm's attorneys provide advice and counsel in corporate, finance, contracts, intellectual property, brand protection, operations, human resources, employee relations, vendor relations and investor relations, transactions and of course, dispute resolution. Representative client industries include: FinTech, Information Technology, E-Commerce, EnergyTech, Entertainment, Publishing, Public Relations, Fashion, Architecture and Engineering, Hospitality, and Borrowed Personnel.

Jennifer is an adjunct professor at Marist College where she teaches Business Law and Legal Foundations for Business in the Management School. She is a Higginbotham fellow of the American Arbitration Association, a Judith S. Kaye fellow of the Historical Society of the New York Courts, and a fellow of the New York Bar Foundation. She is an active member of Arbitral Women, ABA Dispute Resolution Section's, Mediation, Arbitration and Women in Dispute Resolution committees, and NYSBA Dispute Resolution Section, where she is an Executive Committee member and chairs the Section Liaison committee. She volunteers her time to Monday Night Law, a modest means law clinic of the NYCBAR, BardWorks (mentorship for aspiring law students at Bard College), sits on the board of the Natalie Lunn award at Bard College, and mentors children in foster care, college and law students and new legal and ADR practitioners.

Jennifer holds an A.B. from Bard College, an M.A. from SUNY Stony Brook, and a J.D. from Touro Law Center, with honors.
