

BIOGRAPHICAL

Peter Pustorino founded Pustorino & Parrington, PLLC in November of 1980; Peter has over 35 years of litigation experience and an unmatched reputation for fairness, balance and efficiency in resolving disputes. Peter has become one of Minnesota's most sought-after mediators in workers' compensation cases and other civil litigation matters. As one of the most experienced and accomplished workers' compensation lawyers in the State of Minnesota, Peter's incomparable mix of knowledge, experience and credibility have made him one of the State's most trusted voices in resolving workers' compensation disputes. He has been especially successful in resolving cases where both workers' compensation and employment claims are part of related litigation.

Peter is regularly retained by members of both the plaintiffs' and defense bars to mediate the most complex workers' compensation cases, and since focusing his practice solely on mediation in 2009, he has mediated well over 1,500 cases. Drawing as well on his substantial civil litigation experience, Peter has also successfully mediated in a wide array of other civil disputes, including contract issues, employment disputes and personal injury litigation.
