Sarah E. Stottlemeyer graduated from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 2001 and went on to law school at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio. After graduating in 2004, she received a fellowship at the Carter Center for International Peace and also began working as a Special Assistant Attorney General at the Fulton County Juvenile Court prosecuting child deprivation cases. She then worked at two large firms for several years representing insurance companies in workers' compensation claims.

Sarah is the Immediate Past-President of the Georgia Workers' Compensation Claimant's Lawyers of the Georgia Trial Lawyer's Association, served on the Executive Committee for the Workers Injury Law Group, the Super Lawyers Rising Star National Advisory Board, has previously served on the Executive Committee of the Georgia Injured Workers' Advocates, and is the past President of the Workers' Compensation Section of the Atlanta Bar Association. She has been given the highest rating of AV by her peers in the legal community for her knowledge, ability, and ethical standards. She has mediated as a registered neutral for over 7 years with Bay Mediation, helping Georgia's injured resolve their cases fairly and avoid lengthy Trials. Sarah is also the President of the Brookhaven Bar Association bringing Attorneys, Judges, and Community Leaders together who live or work in the City of Brookhaven.

Sarah is also President of Holiday Helping Hands, Inc., a 501c3 Non-Profit she created to help the children of injured workers with presents during the holidays. Recognized as a Super Lawyer each year since 2014, as well as Georgia Trend Magazine's Legal Elite, Sarah has also been featured as a Fighter for Women and Injured Workers' Families in Atlanta Attorney At Law Magazine, and The Atlantan Magazine's Dynamic Women of Atlanta.
